HER ARRIVAL AT THE FEDERAL CAPITAL

President Cleveland Sends His Carriage with Four Grays for the Ride to the Hotel-Continued Cheering.

Quarantine, S. I., May 19.—The day sawned bright and beautiful and the waters of the Narrows and the lower bay glistened and glittered in the sunlight. The arrival late yesterday afternoon of the Spanish steamer Reina Maria Christina, having on board the Infanta Eulalie, her husband and Prince Antoine D'Orleans what of a surprise, as she was not expected ntil early this morning. This did not interfere with the arrangements for the reception of the representatives of the queen

At an early hour the Dolphin passed out to the Hook and was followed shortly af-terward by the Spanish warship Infanta Isabel.

Firing Salutes.

At 9:30 o'clock the Spanish vessels weighed anchor and passing in were preceded by the Dolphin, which had been awaiting their movements off the government docks. The Dolphin steamed ahead, leading the way up through the ship channel, saluting with

About 10:15 o'clock the spars and white hull of the Dolphin showed out plainly be youd the gray walls of Fort Wadsworth and about three cable lengths behind her followed the Reina Maria Christina. About the same distance behind came the Infanta Isabel. The Reina Maria Christina and Infanta Isabel were dressed rainbow fashion, while the Dolphin, which carries no yards, had all her bunting set fore and aft. The Dolphin ran past her dock here and came to anchor. The Reina Maria Christina followed, dropping her anchor in front of the wharf. The Infanta Isabel passed the other Spanish vessel and took the position be-tween the Dolphin and the Reina Maria Christian. The transer of the Infanta was made at the quarantine and not in the lower bay. Dr. Jenkins boarded the Rena Maria Christina to pay his respects to the infanta and shortly afterward an eight-oared boat with the Spanish flag in the stern and the purple standard of Spain in front of it, was oulled to the gangway.

Spanish National Salute.

As the infanta and Prince Antoine went over the side, the Saragossa band on the Reina Maria Christina struck up the Spanish national anthem. The small boat then pulled around the Reina Maria Christina and headed for the Infanta Isabel which was mirrounded by tugs, yachts and small boats.
As the boat bearing the infanta approached the warship the yards were manned proached the warship the yards were manned and as she went on board a salute of twenty-one guns was fired. When the guns of the warship had ceased their booming the cannon at Fort Hamilton took up the strain and answered the salute gun for gun. Upon the cessation of the firing the crew of the Infanta Isabel gave three cheers for their royal visitor.

Her Reception in Washington.

/Washington, May 19.—The royal train bearing Infanta Eulalie and suite arrived in Washington at 8:40 o'clock tonight. An immense crowd gathered in the vicinity of the Pennsylvania station more than an hour before the train arrived. The attaches of the Spanish legation were there as early as 7 o'clock, as were representatives of nearly all the foreign governments. There was a sir among the rapidly gathering throng and a faint cheer as the representatives of the United States rode up and formed in a long line on the Sixth street side of the station. They wore fatigue uniform.

Secretary Gresham and Assistant Secretary Quincy came shortly after the arrival of the cavalry in Mr. Gresham's carriage followed almost instantly by a handsome barouche drawn by four magnificent bay horses. It was President Cleveland's carriage sent for the use of the princess and the president's coachman and a footman were on the box.

Other officials began to arriev. Colonel John M. Wilson, of the army, commissioner of public buildings and grounds, wore a full uniform in his capacity as the military representative of the president. Assistant representative of the president. Assistant Adee and Chief Clerk Rockhill, of the state Adee and Chief Clerk Rockhill, of the state department, were also in attendance. A number of railroad porters caused a flutter in the crowd by laying a double width of carpet along the east side of the platform. This was for the passage of the royal party from the 'train to the carriage. Then a detachment of policemen under a lieutenant marched into the station and drove back all outside who had secured an entrance.

After two or three false alarms, the special train steamed into the station at 8:40 o'clock, exactly on time. Secretary Gresham, the state department officials and the party from the Spanish legation walked nearer to the tracks as the train came to a standstill.

When the infanta met Mrs. Barry, wife of the ex-minister of the United States to Spain, there was a pretty scene. The two had known each other intimately a Madrid and the recognition was followed by a warm handclasp, while Mrs. Curry magninted a kiss on each cheek of the princess. Up Pennsylvania Ayenue.

The ride up Pennsylvania avenue was devoid of any special incident, except on one or two occasions, when the horses became slightly unmanageable, but were soon brought under control. Occasionally in response to salutations from the crowd Secretary Gresham lifted his hat and the princess graciously bowed. She was seated on the right of the secretary facing Prince Antoine and the Spanish minister and seemed particularly pleases as the demonstration of cordiality manifested itself, but kept up a continual conversation with the premier of the administration.

The apartments occupied by the princess and her suite at the Arlington are historic. They are annexed to the hotel, but form a separate house. It was the old residence of Charles Summer and is built of stones throughout. The sides of the square bounding the park are innumerable houses, few less historic than that in which the infanta now rests. The royal apartments contain seven sleeping rooms, three parlors and a private dining room with four bedrooms on an upper floor for the use of the servants.

The International League of Press Clubs to Meet Here.

ATLANTA'S INVITATION PRESENTED

And Unanimously Accepted by the Newspaper Men.

MRS. GORDON, OUR REPRESENTATIVE,

Is Given an Enthusiastic Reception in the Northwest-The New Officers of the Big League.

St. Paul, Minn., May 19 .- (Special.)-At lanta has won the next press club convention. Twelve months hence the delegates of the International League of Press Clubs will meet in Georgia's beautiful capital. This resolution was unanimously adopted at the concluding session of the convention of 1893 in this city.

Georgia did not win the contest too ea-sily. The competition among the principal Flowers from Mrs. Cleveland.

A large bunch of sweet peas stood on a table in the parlor from Mrs. Curry. Other floral gifts were around, but the chief among them rested on the table in the princess's private drawing room on the second floor. It was a tribute from Mrs. Cleveland and consisted of a huge basket of magnificent American beauties and lilies of the valley. It was 8:55 o'clock when the column of troopers turned the corner of Pennsylvania avenue and came up to the hotel. The cavalry moved quickly up and wheeled into line, coming to dress parade. Immediately behind came the president's four-in-hand. The spirited team, nettled by the cheers of the crowd, refused to approach the curb, but were quickly obedient to the touch of the whip. The princess alighted and, taking the arm of Secretary Gresham, and followed by her husband, the prince and the Spanish minister, entered the Sumner annex. The streets were thronged with people and a loud cheer went up as the princess stepped to the pavement.

All Heads Bared. Providence were eager to entertain the league in 1894, and had instructed their delegates to use every argument to induce the convention to decide upon some one of them. Toledo promised royal entertainment to the members of visiting clubs, and the Hub offered a cordial welcome to its classic shades. But when the generous invitations telegraphed to Mrs. Gordon by Governor Northen, Mr. Clark Howell, Mrs. E. T. Byington and other prominent Georgians were read to the convention the question was practically settled. Mrs. Gordon assured her fellow delegates that not only the newspaper fraternity of Atlanta, but every one in the grand old Enriere State of the South would receive them with that hospitality for which Georgia is justly, noted and many shining lights of cess stepped to the pavement.

All Heads Bared.

"Hats off," shouted some one in the crowd and immediately every head was uncovered. It was with great difficulty that the police kept people from surging forward.

Colonel John M. Wilson received the party at the door.

Immediately upon entering the house the princess passed into the reception room, accompanied by Secretary Gresham and Assistant Secretaries Adee and Quincy and her suite. A moment later the representatives of the government retired and Commander Davis bade the party good night. All preparations had been made to serve dinner, but owing to the fact that dinner was had on the train the beautiful private dining room was not used tonight. Although expressing herself as not at all fatigued, the princess soon retired to her own rooms to secure a good night's rest preparatory to the festivities that await her. Tomorrow morning she will pay her respects to the president and Mrs. Cleveland. The programme for the day beyond that has not been agreed upon.

THE DAY IN WASHINGION.

"The fact that Atlanta has won is entirely due to the correctness and logic of the argument advanced by Mrs. Gordon, the representative from Georgia," said Mr. Boles. "Toledo had the distinguished honor to entertain the Geargit editors some time ago and we know that shall we of Toledo go in a body to that beautiful Georgia city of the south that we will be treated like princes of the blood royal and descendants of kings." There Were No Appointments and It was Washington, May 19.—(Special.)—This being cabinet day, Georgia affairs are in statu quo. No marshal has been named and unless Colonel Livingston and Colonel

Moses can pull together, it will be some time before Buck's scalp will be put in salt. Colonel Moses hopes to get a man in his district for the place, and if the contention between Renfroe and Dismuke

Washington, expressive of kindnest greetings.

Last year a committee was appointed to revise the directory of worship. It presented to the assembly today a directory prepared under their care. The ad interim committee on the new hymn book recommended the adoption of the book entitled "Hymns of Ages," prepared by Rev. R. T. Kon. of Richmond.

The morning session ended with devotional services. There was no afternoon session, as the various committees desired to meet.

Rev. W. V. Murkland preached tonight to a large congregation.

NORTHERN PRESBYTERIANS. They Call in a Body on the President—The Speeches Made.

Killed His Rrather.

Killed His Rrather.

Kancaster, Ky., May 19.—News of a terrible affair in Casey county reached here today, it being a tragedy in which one brother killed another. A few evenings since, while Logan Brown was enjoying a few drinks with a friend near Gibbin's store, on the Trace Fork his brother came up and began firing on him. Logan returned the fire so effectually as to put an end to the attack. Logan died a few hours later. President Cleveland to visit the assembly at his convenience.

Without action upon various reports the general assembly adjourned until tomorrow morning and proceeded to call in a body at the white house.

The president and Mrs. Cleveland received the commissioners and visitors to the assembly in the east room. Mrs. Cleveland wore a gray gown of soft clinging material later.

SHE RAN AWAY WITH THE PARSON.

London, May 19.—While Mr. Gladstone was traveling from London to Chester yesterday a heavy missile was thrown at his compartment as the train approached Willesden. Sir, let me congratulate you upon the fact that sturdy Presbyterians hedge you round about, and that the sturdlest Presbyterians of us all are at your side, a holy benediction to keep you straight to the faith of your ancestors, which is not the only great assurance of success, but is the highway to the immediate presence of the loving God. You ought to be refreshed when you talk with a man who represents 2,500 people, who do not want a single office. (Applause.)

In conclusion Dr. Craig delivered the assembly's invitation to the president to visit the assembly.

President Cleveland gaid in reply:

Mr. Moderator and Ladles and Gentlemen: I assure you it affords me much personal gratification to meet on this occasion the representatives of that great religious denomination, which has done so much to make our people better and shappier, and which is associated with so many tender and pleasing incidents of my 'individual experience. The thought is also in my mind that in the light of my mubile duties and responsibilities, there is a propriety in extending to you a welcome to this home of the nation's chief executive. We still profess to be a Christian people. This means that no public officer of high or low degree has been unmindful of the restraints of religious sentiment. It means that the rules which a nonular pelicious sense approves should underlie every public duty and it means that those who essume to be religious teaching of our people should lead them to exact from those who make and execute their taws a recognition of these restraints. It means that the rules which a nonular pelicious sense approves should underlie every public duty and it means that those who essume to be religious teachers in this land where the neople rule, are releved in responsibility to those in public station. REPORTS FROM THE BUSINESS CENTERS

Southern Cities Seem to Be Getting Along Better Than Those of Any Other Section—The Week's Failures.

New York, May 19.-R. G. Dun & Co. New York, May 19.—R. G. Dun & Stocks have rallied from the extreme depression, but business shows no substantial improvement. The distribution of products to final consumers is rather less encing, though the weather has been get more favorable and at some points, helps the retail trade. Wholesale business and of the increasing stringency in money mankets, and while money is comparatively oasy here, the pressure at other points has increased. Almost everywhere collections are slow and doubt about the future atfects new undertakings, although the present volume of trade, based upon past orders, is remarkably strong. The money position is easier than for some weeks past, but exports of gold have notably increased. Exports of products in April were in value only $60,612,680, a decrease of more than $15,300,000, while imports were $84,901. $15,300,000, while imports were $84,901,-092, an increase of $8,600,000. Excess of imports for the month was $24,378,412 and for four months of the current year $86,233,913. In two weeks in May exports have been but slightly decreased while imports have been $6,200,000 greater than last year. In such conditions, it is not strange that a large amount of gold has gone abroad this week and $2,250,000 has been ordered for shipment. The exhas been ordered for shipment. The extraordinary bank failures in Australia, involving deposits already amounting to more than $420,000,000, of which ever $125,000,000 was due to British depositors, caused much realizing on securities and in American markets. Nevertheless, stock has been decidedly stronger this week with healthy American buying.

Iron is rather weaker at Pittsburg; coal good and glass fair. A little improvement is seen at Cincinnati. Trade at Cieveland is dull; collections slow and money close. The monetary situation improves at 1 clanapolis, but at Detroit jobbing to 10 per cent smaller than law though manufacturers are at work full in and money easier. Chicago reports im-proved retail and factory wholesale trade, with liquidation and lower prices for local securities and slow collections; eastbound the lowest price for thirty years. Milwau-kee trade improves but money is very tight. St. Paul reports fair trade with money close. At St. Louis trade is satisfactory. At Kansas City trade is fair with mone closer. At St. Joseph trade is improvin but at Denver business is slow.

Louisville the money market has imp phis quiet and at Nashville somewhat be At Columbus trade is a little off and m tight, but at Atlanta business is sati Orleans reports a quiet trade with much apprehension of floods; cotton depressed; sigar weaker, and money in increased demand. Wheat 1 1-2c lower with sales of 23,000,000 bushels for the week. Corn 1-8c and oats 1-2c lower. Pork products slightly higher and cotton unchanged. While the great industries are well employed thus far, orders for the future are growing more scanty. The iron trade is weaker, southern forced sales depressing the price. No improvement is seen in his iron, Pittsburg having taken contracts at amazingly low prices, while structure. Orleans reports a quiet trade with m

Business failures number 247 in the United States against 100 for the same week last year and fourteen in Canada against twenty-three last year. What Bradstreets save is 0,319,926, against 8,784,177 and 8,367,239 for last year and the year before, respectively.

From this time on last year the amount of cotton brought into sight was 251,202, and year before last, 285,358. In other words, after this date last year 2.78 per cent of the cotton crop was marketed, and the season before 3.30 per cent. The movement since September 1st shows receipts at all United States ports 4,822,827, against 8,858.861 last year and 6,679,914 the year before. Overland across the Mississippi, Ohio and Potomac rivers to Canada and northern mils, 833,974, against 1,197,526 and 1,042,039. Interior stocks in excess of those held at the close of the commercial year, 103,690, against 187,087 and 157,921. Southern mills takings, 559,335, against 540,703 and 487,365. Northern spinnners have taken during the past week 17,544 bales less than last year, making a decrease in their takings of 510,178 for the season to date.

The total takings of American mills, north and south and Canada, thus far for the season, have been 2,196,025, against 2,685,757 last year. These include 1,605,998 by northern spinners, against 2,116,176.

Stocks at seaport cities and the twenty-nine lending southern interior centers have declined during the past week 60,800 bales, against a decrease during the corresponding period of last year of 34,426, and are now 193,950 smaller than at this date in 1892. Including stocks left over at ports and interior towns from the last crop and the number of bales brought into sight thus far of the new rop, the supply to date is 6,852,877, against 9,062,553 for the same period last year. Bradstreets tomorrow will say: There is no radical or widespread improvement in conditions underlying general trade this week, and in some respects relative quiet and declines in volume of goods sold have become more conspicuous. Embarrassuesit of financial and commercial institutions and tighter money at all points have exactised a double influence, first causing the bankers to scrutinize commercial paper as not before in many years, and to discount and rare exceptions, once other than paper of regular customers and make the jobber of general wholesales still further restrict credits and interior sounty merchants to buy only to the extent he feels confident of being able to disposof soon. This conservatism and higher faterest rates are conspicuous at New York. Philadelphia, Pittsburg, Cincinnait, Chicago, St. Louis, Mobile, New Orleans, Gaiveston and San Francisco.

An important index of general trade within the first quarter of 1803, is in our return from railway companies having two-thirds of the total mileage of the Unite States, which shows that while earning increase 2.8 per cent, net carnings were per cent and net only one-half as much Leading manufacturing industries show and acted billets, which are higher, being as depressed as at any time this read and steel billets, which are higher, being as depressed as at any time this read and are buying on receipts of orders.

Gordon, a farmer living two miles from Fenton, came to Detroit today to look for his wife, who, he said, had eloped last week with Rev. James Latham, a Methodist minister of Toledo. Gordon fearned that the couple had been seen in Detroit and thinks it probably that they have crossed the river to Windsor, Ont., and for greater security laid the facts before the police of that city. An hour's search resulted in finding the couple in a boarding house kept by Mrs. Moore, who said they had been there a week representing themselves to be husband and wife. The guilty couple were placed under arrest and taken to the police station, where they were arruigned on a charge of unlawful cohabitation. Both pleaded guilty and are awaiting the action of the prosecuting attorney. It is said that Latham has a wife and four children in Toledo.

"Yes, sir, I do; and I propose to make an open and aggressive campaign. I will be in the fight to the finish. I will invite all candidates to a joint debate throughout the sixth district, and from the stump will discuss the issues of the campaign before the people. I believe this is the fairest and best way to conduct the canvass. I don't care who will be in the race and who will not be, but, of one thing you can rest red, I will certainly be a candidate, and I shall make it a stirring campaign!

Many think that Hon. Bob Berner will

Police Relief Fund.

The police of Macon are forming a "police relief fund," to operate as follows: On the 18th of each month, commencing June 18th next, each policeman will pay $2 per month, and on failure to pay the said amount at the stated time a fine of 50 cents will be imposed, and, on failure to pay for two months, he will be debarred from the benefits of the fund. The object of the fund is for sick and funeral benefits. If a policeman becomes sick or injured the fund is for sick and funeral benefits. If a policeman becomes sick or injured so he is incapacitated for work, he will be allowed $1 per day for ten weeks, and after that length of time he will be paid 50 cents per day for ten weeks. In the case of the death of a policeman, $50 is paid to his family to help defray funeral expenses. The members of the Macon force are very much in favor of the police relief fund, and, no doubt, every policeman will become a subscriber to it. There will be but two efficers of the organization, to wit: two officers of the organization, to-wit A president and a secretary and treasurer

Arden at Work.

Arden at Work.

Engineer Dan Arden has at last gone back to work. His case is familiar to the people of Georgia. Several weeks ago Judge Speer ordered his reinstatement on the Central railroad, with pay to commence from April 20th. Notwithstanding this order the officials of the road delayed in returning him to work, but Mr. Arden has been daily reporting at the Central shop in Savannah, and will draw $4.50 per day just the same as if he had been at work. The Constitution was informed today by engineers that Enginer Arden was put to work on Tuesday and runs a freight from Savannah to Wadley. The engineers think it strange that the officials of the Central should have been allowed so long to disregard the court's order.

The still had been operated in sight of the house of one of the defendants. The parties arrested were

An Incendiary Fire.

Waycross, Ga., May 19.—(Special.)—The lumber yard of J. W. Johnson at his sawmill and variety works near the Waycross Air-Line depot, was discovered to be burning last evening. The fire department went promptly to the scene of the fire and put the hose to work. The blaze was soon extinguished, but a great deal of lumber was destroyed. The wind was blowing against the fire and that saved the mill from being attacked by the fiames. How the lumber caught fire is a mystery. Some people present at the fire expressed the opinion that it was the work of an incendiary. The fire department is now well organized, and since the city has an abundant supply of water, the work is made more effectual in extinguishing fires.

Moving Against the Central at Augusta.

BATTLE BETWEEN LAWYERS.

The Effort to Wrest the Port Royal and Augusta from Mr. Comer Is Being Vigorously Pushed.

Augusta, Ga., May 19 .- (Special.)-A great fight for the appointment of Colonel T. J. Averill, as permanent receiver of T. J. Averill, as permanent receiver of the Port Royal and Augusta railway, was on today. The question was heard by Judge Roney, in chambers.

A brilliant array of attorneys was in terested in the case. The Central railroad was represented by Mr. Alex R. Lawson, Jr., of Savannah; Major J. B. Cumming and Major Joseph Ganahl, of Augusta-Messrs. W. J. Verdier, of Beaufort, and Alex C. King, of Atlanta, represent Henry B. King, et al., petitioners for receiver, and Augustine T. Smith and A. M. Lee, of Charleston, are attorneys for Temporary Receiver Averill. The Central railroad is fighting the appointment of Colonel J. H. Averill as permanent receiver, and this morning answered the charges upon which Colonel Averill was made temporary receiver, and its attorneys now want the office of receiver vacated and the affairs of the road returned to the charge of Receiver Comer, of the Central. The Central railway, in its answer to the rule to show cause why the receiver should not be ap-pointed, answered that the petition is not sufficient in law, and does not set forth a good and valid cause of action against the defendant, and that the court has not jurisdiction to appoint a receiver or grant any injunction against the defendant until judgment is had adjudicating that the de endant has been guilty of alleged acts and fendant has been guilty of alleged acts and doings.

The defendant admits that its stock in the road consists of \7,500 shares, and admits further that on the 13th of July, 1878, the Port Royal and Augusta created two series of bonds, secured by a trust deed executed to the Union Trust Company, of New York. The Central denied that the Augusta and Savannah railway based by the Central is in active comway leased by the Central is in active competition with the Port Royal and Augusta,
The Central denies that it bought a controlling interest in the Port Royal and Au-gusta for the purpose of preventing the development of the commerce of Port Royal, and denies that it has let the property of the company run down, and explains that th object in moving the shops from Port Royal to Augusta was for economical purposes. The defendant denies that by any manage-ment whatsoever the Port Royal and Augusta could have been able to pay the in-terest upon the sum of $2,800,000 and there-after a dividend upon the stock, and de-nies that the road has been greatly damaged by any connection with the Central.

The defendant denies that the Central is indebted to the Port Royal and Augusta in the sum of $500,000, or in any other sum, earnings and profits by the Central taken from the Port Royal and Augusta, but on The Road Almost Completed.

Dublin, Ga., May 19.—The Oronee and Western railroad, formerly the Empire and Dublin, has almost entirely completed its grade to the Whitesville and Tennille railroad depot, the objective point, near the court house, and is now laying rails within the corparate limits of Dublin. This road, now so nearly completed, at present extends from Hawkinsville to Dublin and is a first-class broad-gauge road in all of its appointments. The grades are easy and the road substantially built, with sixty pound steel rails. Manager J. W. Hightower, of Empire, says that as soon as he finishes this end of the line he expects to commence work at the other and rapidly push the construction from Hawkinsville to Grovania.

The completion of this line gives Dublin three first-class railroads—the Wrightsville and Tennille, thirty-six miles long, connecting Dublin with the Central railroad, aftry-four miles long, connecting Dublin with Hawkinsville and the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railroad. These roads, with a first-class steamboat on the Oconee, give Dublin first-class freight rates and commercial facilities.

Carrollton and Vicinity.

The defendant denies that the Central is indebted to the Port Royal and Augusta but on the contrary, alleges the Port Royal and Augusta, but on the lonteral rails. Mana from the Port Royal and Augusta before alleges the Port Royal and Augusta before any with built, with sixty pound to particular the central railway facilities, and for find phothed to the Central far alleges the Port Royal and Augusta, but on the contrary, alleges the Port Royal and Augusta before the contrary, alleges the Port Royal and Augusta before the contrary, alleges the Port Royal and Augusta before the contrary, alleges the Port Royal rail Augusta before any additional three transportations and profits by the Central far he port Royal rail Augusta before any dividend can be paid to the stockholders; the time the terms of the English and all back vinterest must, under the terms of the Union and, although it is payable only when earned, yet if not earned it is accumulative and all back interest must, under the terms of the mortrage to the Union Trust Company be paid in full whether earned or not before any money can come to stockholders. The Central reported that the accumulated and unpaid interest to January 1, 1893 amounts to reported that the accumulated and unpaid interest to January 1, 1893 amounts to $1,170,000; the it is impossible for the company to meet this charge in addition to the $127,720 annual charge and principal of bonds due January 1, 1899. The Central says the stock of the Port Royal and Augusta railroad therefore has absolutely no intrinsic value whatever except for the purpose of enabling holders of it to haras and annoy the Port Royal and Augusta Company and the Central by causeless litigation. The property of the Port Royal and Augusta, if sold, the Central says, would not bring enough to pay these obligations and certainly would yield nothing to the stockholders. The Central says the interest of the petitioners in the Port Royal and Augusta is nothing, and the defendant for his and other reasons charges on information that the real purpose and object of this proceeding is not to preserve or protect the property of the petitioners, but to foster and promote certain speculaive schemes in which they and their associates are engaged, and which are more particularly referred to in a previous bill.

After the reading of the answers by Mr.
Lawton, Mr. Verdery, for the complainants, read affidavits from various parties to prove that the Central road had bottled up the Port Royal and had injured the property of the Port Royal and Augusta. The answer of the petitioners for a permanent receiver in the person of Colonel Averill, is also full. When court adjourned tonight arguments were being heard tonight arguments were being heard.

CUTTING OFF FREE PASSES.

The Pennsylvania Central System Will Issue

None Except to Employes.

The Pennsylvania Railrond Company has announced that hereafter it will not issue passes for free transportation over its lines except to its own employes. This will cause widespread sorrow among those who have regarded their claims on the road for passes as certain and the number who have traveled free will be greatly decreased. A high official of the company says: "There were a large number of people, who, from their connection with the political parties directly or indirectly, thought they were entitled to free transportation over our lines within the state and without, too, for that matter. There are parties who have some claims for the privilege, owing to services rendered the company in various capacities. But the issuing of passes became a nuisance, and it cost the company thousands every year to haul these people, for, contrary to the opinion held by many, it cost money out of the railroad treasury to haul every passenger carried."

A HORRIBLE DEATH.

A Young Railroader at Augusta Ground to Pieces by the Cars.

Augusta, Ga., May 19.—(Special.)—My Louis Brinkley, a young man twenty-four years old, met a horrible death at 5 o'colck this afternoon. He was employed by the Port Royal and Western Carolina railroad as trackman in this city, but was sont up the seed man in this city, but was sent up the this morning as a brakeman on an extra train after a pile of cross ties. In returning to this city this afternoon Mr. Brinkley was seated on a brake on top of a box car. ing McKinley street Mr. Brinkley noticed a trolley wire of an electric street railroad which ran crosswise, and supposedly apprehensive of being caught whe wire thr hand up to guard the wire up.

As soon as his hand puched the wire, which was heavily clarged the current passed through him, and he, being seated on iron brakes, formed a connection for the electric brakes, formed a connection for the electric fluid to pass through. He was severely shocked and fell backward between the cars. His body was pinioned be-tween the cars a short while, but afterwards fell to the ground on the track and three cars passed over him before the train could be opped. The body was dragged fully one andred yards and was horribly mangled, almost cut in two.

NEAR THE COURTHOUSE,

Illicit Still Were Found.

Dublin, Ga., May 19.—(Special.)—United States Marshals Thomas and Mozely, of Macon, and Deputy Collector Wilson say that in the garret of an old dwelling house, occupled by F. M. Hightower and one Kelley, not one hundred yards from the courthouse in Dublin, they discovered last night unmis-takable evidences of an illicit distillery, finding two or three barrels of "mash" and some distilled liquor in the house, and a tin still worm secreted in the yard. The marshals were unable to find the still

The marshals were unable to find the still although they searched in every conceivable place, and even dug up the soil in the back yard.

The marshals came down from Macon on the evening train, and it is supposed that the moonshiners took fright and secreted the still, but did not have time to get rid of the mash, before the raid was made.

Hightower and Kelley are both young men, the former having been engaged in the whisky business at one time, and the latter, until recently a fireman on the Wrightsville and Tennille ratirons. Kelley and Hightower were carried to Ma-con on this morning's train.

Remarkable Cures

Effected by the use of AYER'S Sarsaparilla.

"For more than twenty years, I suffered from kidney disease, the result of measles and exposure. A year ago last May, my whole right side became paralyzed, and this was followed by dropsy, which so bloated my face that I became nearly blind. The doctors pronounced my case Blood-poisoning and treated me accordingly, but without benefit. I wrote to D. Loomis, druggist at Levering, Mich., to let me have six bottles of his best blood medicine, and he sent AYER'S Sarsaparilla. Soon after taking it, I began to improve. That summer and winter I persisted in the use of this medicine, until a complete restoration to health was the result. I doubt not I owe my life to AYER'S Sarsaparilla. Years ago, when in the army, I saw the good

"Four years ago I was severely afflicted with salt-rheum, the itching being so incessant as to seriously interfere with sleep. Painful scrofulous sores appeared on my neck and the upper part of my arms, and from there the humor went to my eyes. My appetite being poor, my health rapidly failed. I began to take AYER'S Sarsaparilla, and before I had finished ten bottles I regained my appetite, improved greatly in strength, and was permanently cured of the salt-rheum and Scrofula. I consider that what I spent for this medicine was well invested. The Sarsaparilla has indeed done me incalculable good."-Mrs. CAROLINE A. GARLAND, Deerfield, N. H., (formerly of Lowell, Mass.)

RREAKS OUT IN A NEW PLACE.

The Helpless Chinaman Falls an Easy Prey to the Toughs at the Jail-Bail Furnished.

Yee Toy, a yellow-skinned, almond-eyed sleepy-looking, graceless of manner, tongue steepy-looking, statetees of the steep third and puzzled at everything American may be a fine sort of Chinese patriot, or he may be only a common kind of Chinaman of the faking class earth earthy.

Joe Lee is another Chinaman very much brighter looking, less stupid, more American, more dudish and with eyes that snap with and a countenance that glows with shrewdness and naughtiness. Joe belongs to a very happy class of his countrymen, who are American and progressive in their ideas and who have not only discarded the conventional dress of the orient, but have adopted America as their permanent home. Yee Toy is a representative of a class directly opposed to that to which Lee be-

On Tuesday there was a class between these two classes and Recorder Calhoun had an opportunity to hear the full history of Chinese politics in Atlanta. The trial in solice court was detailed in The Constitution at the time, but it did not end with the disposition made of it by Recorder Cal-the disposition made of it of records thoun.

Six Chimamen fought over their differences in Joe Lee's laundry at 178 Marietta street last Monday night. The fight, it was explained in court, was caused by the differences of opinion in regard to the Geary Chinese exclusion act entertained by the two classes of Chinamen in Atlanta. One class favored it and had complied with its provisions by registering, etc. This class comprised Joe Lee and the Chinamen who have adopted American styles of dress. The other class still wear the clothes of their native land. The fight was precipitated on account of their differences and was a rough one.

At the trial Yee Toy swore in very choice Chinese into the ear of a wise-looking in-terpreter that Joe Lee had stolen $35 out of his pocket. He jabbered it out in Chinese and the interpreter said it over to the judge, much to the amusement of the inspectors and greatly to the dismay of Joe Lee, whose and greatly to the dismay of Joe Lee, whose integrity was involved.

He did not go away from the trial with any warm feelings toward Yee Toy and he determined to punish him for his testimony. It was unsupported by any other and was so very weak of itself that it had no weight with the court. Yesterday Lee had Yee Toy arrested on a warrant for perjury and before the astonished and puzzled Chinaman knew what was the matter he was in the county jail. His advent at the jail was an event in jail circles and created something event in jail circles and created something of a sensation.

For upwards of five hours he was the butt of many a rough joke perpetrated by the rough prisoners and he was not long in concluding that life in the Atlanta jail was not worth living.

Last night Yee Toy's political party of loyal celestials rallied and furnished bail for him. Joe Lee says he will prosecute him for perjury to the fullest extent of the law.

Discourse Last Night.

HE ADDRESSES A LARGE CONGREGATION.

His Subject Tonight Is "Do All Things Work for God."—The Meetings Growing in Interest.

Dr. Martin, the evangelist, preached to an immense congregation at the tabernacle last night.

His subject was "Triumph," and from the opening syllable to the closing exhortation he held the undivided attention of his hearers. The sermon was one of remarkable power, and its effect was clearly visible upon the faces of those who listened.

The meetings have been steadily growing in interest, and according to the statement of noe who has been regular throughout the services, occupying a front bench, the last sermon that Dr. Martin preaches is the best.

All who have heard the eloquent divine

All who have heard the eloquent divine agree that a more powerful minister of the gospel has never been heard in this city. Those who have not heard Dr. Martin should make it a point to hear him before he leaves the city. His preaching thus far has been attended by many remarkable conversions and several baptisms were the result of his preaching yesterday afternoon. '*

If all were familiar with the eloquence and power of this able evangelist there would not be a vacant seat in the tabernacle although its seating capacity is over two thou-sand.

The sermon last night was based on the

The sermon last night was based on the utterance of Paul, the apostle, "Thanks be to God, who causes us to triumph through Jesus Christ." Triumph, said the evangelist, implied enemies. All Christians had their foes, and this was necessary, since the Christan life was a warfare. The enemies of the Christian were classified in the Bible as the world, the flesh and the devil. No enemy could be found that did not fall under one of these subdivisions.

Although the Christian was in the world the world was his enemy. When a man was converted and commenced to lead a Christian life, he was not then ready for heaven, Heaven could get along without the Christian, It was the Christian who could not get along without heaven. When a man was converted he was then prepared to live and to be of use and service in the world. He could then assist others to overcome it, and thus contribute to bring about its subjugation for contribute to bring about its subjugation for the benefit of those who were seeking to ac-complish that end.

The flesh was another enemy. Man was the victim of his passions and sinful appetites, If was necessary for him to overcome these in order to experience the Chritian's triumph and exalitation. It was a difficult matter to do this for human nature was weak, but withthe grace of God and the determination to overcome evil, there could be no doubt as to the final result.

The devil was another enemy, and was the cause of great havoc throughout the world. There were many who refused to believe in a devil because he was not discernible with the $500 to any one who would convince him that such a thing as a devil actually existed. A preacher came to his town to carry on a revival meeting, and the infidel went to see him.

"You are the man, I believe," said he, "that eats infidels?"

"No, sir," replied the preacher, "you have been misinformed. My stomach revolts at the idea of such an unhealthy diet." "Ah," said the skeptic, "you seem to be cutspoken, but can you give me any proof as to the reality of the devil? I suppose you have heaft of my standing reward of $500?"
"What kind of proof do you want?" inquired the preacher, ignoring the latter part of the speech the preacher, ignoring the latter part of the speech.

"Trot him out," was the reply of the skeptic. "Trot him out,"

"Look here." said the preacher, addressing the infidel, "have you an intellect?"

"About as much as a preacher, I suppose," was the astonished reply.

"Well, trot it out, then," said the preacher. The man looked astonished and seemed to be at a loss to know what to say.

The man looked astonished and seemed to be at a loss to know what to say.

"By the same logic," resumed the preacher, "which you employ to prove that the devil does not exist. I can prove that you are an idlot. There are many things which be believe that we cannot see or understand." The man seemed to have enough of the argument and left the place.

The world, continued Dr. Martin, is full of The world, continued Dr. Martin, is full of the evidences of the devil. We do not have to see him in order to be apprised of the evil he is doing. He is in us and around us and the triumph of the Christian consists in over.

the triumph of the Christian consists in overcoming him.

Another classification of the enemy was that of sin and death. Sin, to be overcome, must be routed in three ways. We must overcome the guilt of it, through pardon; the power of it and the love of it. The last enemy to overcome was that of death, and that could be overcome through faith in Jesus Christ.

The evangelist then spoke of the efficacy of love. With more of love, or rather more of its avowal, the Christian would be greatly uplifted in his Christian endeavors. The husband was reminded of the time when the moon was wreathed in a softer light, and the the flowers yielded a more delicate perfume, in sympathy with the feeling which prompted him to a declaration of thost old sweet words, "I love you." If that man offered to kiss his wife now or to embrace her, she would think he was going to die. There should be a greater manifestation of love on the part of husbands for their wives and wives for their husbands, parents for their children and children for their parents. In this way the triumph of Christiants would be mere exercise.

dren for their parents. In this way the tri-umph of Christianity would be more occuplete and thousands would be encouraged on to vicand thousands would be encouraged on to vic-tory.

The gospel invitation was then sung, and several embraced the offer of salvation.

Dr. Martin will preach tonight on the sub-ject "Do all things work for good?" He will, no doubt, be greeted with an overflowing congregation.

JUDGE STEWART DEAD.

most prominent citizens of this state, died at his home in Decatur early yesterday morning.

The entire life of Judge Stewart was passed in DeKaib county. He was sixty years old at the time of his death, and for that period of time he held the respect and confidence of every one who knew him.

For many years he was the ordinary of the county, and held that position until he was voted a seat in the legislature. He was popular throughout the county, and no citizen was better acquainted or held more securely in his keeping the heart of his constituents than Judge Stewart.

He was a gallant soldier during the late war and was a member of the Confederate Veterans' Association. He was also a member of the Coeur de Lion commandery of the Knights Templar, in addition to a membership in several other organizations.

He was a high-toned, honorable gentleman, and was a most devout and earnest Christian. He was twice married and leaves an interesting family of seven children, three girls and four boys.

The funeral will occur from the Decatur Baptist church this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock and the services will be under the auspices of the Masons. The interment will be at Decatur.

THE JACKSON BANQUET.

Judge Pardee Does Not Know Whether He Can Come.

Can Come.

It is not certain as yet whether Judge Don Pardee will be able to attend the hearing of the Central railroad litigation here next week. An invitation was sent to him to attend the banquet to Mr. Justice Jackson. He replied that he did not know whether his docket would permit him to get off from New Orleans next week.

A large number of Atlanta attorneys have secured their plates, and inquiries are still coming in from other cites about the banquet. The gentlemen who are arranging for the compilment to Justice Jackson smile at the spirit of the comments on the banquet by the Savanah press. The reason that he fixed Atlanta as the place for hearing the arguments on the iseveral motious pending before him, was that this is the most central noint for himself, Judge Pardee and Judge Speer to meet.

Woman's Suffrage Created Dissension in the W. C. T. U. Meeting.

The WOMEN WANT TO VOTE.

The President, Mrs. McClendon, Has Had Enough of Secession—Mrs. Dr. Felton's Lively Speech.

The fifth district Woman's Christian Temperance Union meeting had a stormy time of it yesterday afternoon, and for a time there was some lively spatting.

The cause of the agitation was an untimely discussion of woman's suffrage and whether or not the union's members of the suffrage plank in the platform adopted by its demands the Members and characteristics.

There is no objection to organizations of Christian woman in the Methodist church its full of members who dance, play cards and drink whisky, they make this command of no effect. These preachers fight temperance efforts in proportion as they condone these disciplinary sins. They must have something to do while they are shirking the duty laid upon them when they have declared to be true, and then it becomes wicked and dangerous to deny it. It is built on pride and unreasonable saft-conceit. This set is our sect, therefore, it must be right, is the language of pert assumacy and disgusting difficulties.

There is no objection to organizations of Christian woman in the Methodist church it seems, provided these scribes and Phartsees whether or not the union's members of the fifth district meeting should endorse the suffrage plank in the platform adopted by the national temperance convention some time ago.

The discussion was very warm on all sides and several times more than three la-dies attempted to argue at once; the suc-cess was not a signal one and the floor was given to a fourth candidate for oratorical honors. In fact, the usual routine of the interest in favor of pushing the work to secure woman's suffrage with men.

The speaker declared that, wo man has always be the case if the female portion of the lawys be the case if the female portion of the lawys be the case if the female portion of the lawys of the work of the law, and full and equal suffrage with men.

The speaker declared that, wo man has always cere woman's suffrage at once.

"We are not on a lower plane," said Mrs. Kilby; "we are working for Christ. If we do guestion of suffrage, it won't raise us one inch. This guestion of suffrage, it won't raise us one inch. This guestion of suffrage, if the speaker declared that, woman has always be the case if the female portion of the race did not get suffrage at once.

"We are not on a lower plane," said Mrs. Kilby; "we are working for Christ. If we do get what we want in the shape of woman's suffrage, it won't raise us one inch. This question of suffrage has always redo get what we want in the shape of woman's suffrage, it won't raise us one inch.

This question of suffrage has always created dissension whenever it was brought forward, and I think that it should be dropped." And the speaker's eyes flashed in indignation.

During Mrs. Kilby's talk the president, Mrs. McClendon, begged to be allowed to interpolate a word, and stated in vigorous terms that the women were handicapped in their temperance work.

"This suffrage plank has created dissension," replied Mrs. Kilby.

"No! No! Never!" exclaimed a lady rising in an excited manner, but she was squelched for the time.

Mrs. Hardwick, the delegate from Convers. then secured the floor and told the woeful story of how her own union had had twenty-three members, and that all of them had deserted, except her, on account of woman's suffrage, but that she was still for suffrage. After this suffrage stock went down a couple of notches, only for its argain.

to rise again.
See Understands Secession. "There is a plank in the platform adopted by the national convention," said President McClendon, "which declares for woman's suffrage, and I do not believe in secession. I have seen the baleful effects of secession, she added, "just about the time Sherman was bombarding Atlanta, I was hiding in conclusion of the condition of the condit a cellar out on Peachtree street. No more secession for me."
At this witty sally on the part of the president, the entire assemblage enjoyed a hearty laugh.

Mrs. F. W. Miller then arose to the oc casion and declared that her husband was an earnest advocate of woman's suffrage, and that he had converted her to woman's Miss Lillie Reynolds declared that she did

Miss Lillie Reynolds declared that she did not believe that woman's suffrage saved souls any faster. This announcement appeared to create something like a furore, for both the president and secretary and another lady started to their feet to argue this interesting point, but nothing sensational resulted.

The discussion for and against the resolution waxed so warm and so long that the president resorted to heroic measures.

"Those who would rather have woman's suffrage than saloons, please stand up," suffrage than saloons, please stand up," asked President McClendon.

Eleven ladies stood up.
"Now," she continued, "those that would rather have saloons than woman's suffrage, please stand up." rather have saloons than woman's suffrage, please stand up."

The silence that followed this was several feet deep, but the anti-suffrage party wouldn't be downed, and finally the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That we memorialize the state society for the adoption of the suffrage plank in the platform of the national convention.

Mrs. Dr. Felton's Speech.

Mrs. Dr. Felton's Speech.

One of the most interesting features of the programme yesterday was the very lively speech of Mrs. Dr. Felton, which is reproduced in part. The convention adjourned to meet at some place to be named by the executive committee.

Permit me to say, said Mrs. Felton, a few words about the future of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union in Georgia. The open persecution by certain preachers will have its effect on timid hearts and minds in our midst and the love of some will wax cold because of this fear of church ostracism, but this attack on Christian women, who have violated no church ordinance, who live up to their church duties and who cling to the love of Christ, which constraineth them to go out into the highways and byways to rescue the perishing, will greatly intensify their love by their suffering and injustice. Never fear. If God is for us we can be content. If we are driven from the churches that formerly sheltered us, we can afford to take comfort in the thought-is the language of pert assumacy and disgusting officiousness.

There is no objection to organizations of Christian women in the Methodist church it seems, provided these scribes and Pharisees handle the money that these women beg out of their friends and neighbors—none whatever. The milk in the present cocoanut gathers about the 10 cents per member, that they have no opportunity of handling—which goes to the support of the national temperance union. It is considered praiseworthy to beg contributions for Emory college. Why? Because those contributions go to swell larger salaries and fatter berths for the sectarian leaders.

It needs a Wesley to rouse the people to the leaders.

It needs a Wesley to rouse the people to the terrors of the situation and a new invoice of Methodist preachers to carry out Wesley's of Methodist preachers to carry out Wesley's determination.

It has been the boast of the Methodist church in Georgia, that it was a temperance church, but these women fighters have turned the channel in another direction. They turned the cold shoulder to all temperance movements at Madison. They voted down a resolution to vote only for sober men for office, refuse to discipline drunken members in the church, or rebuke openly those members that rented places of business to saloonists, and for even lower purposes. If the saloon keepers had been asked to choose the best method to further their business, they would say with one accord: "Set these Methodist preachers to fighting the temperance women."

Did you hear a pulpit crusade against the wrongdoers? Did you find doctors of divinity thundering in the church papers, calling for a weeding out of the erring members from the churches. Not much! There were some glittering generalities, nicely written, but the dogmatic crowd manifested no zeal and spirit, until they got down to abusing temperance women.

If the craft proves to be unseaworthy then until they got down to abusing temperance women.

If the craft proves to be unseaworthy then we can take to the lifeboats and seek another port. When the salt has lost its savor it is well to cast it out as worthless. I have been a Methodist for forty years, but as Paul sald to the Galatians, "There can be neither Jew are Greek, there can be neither bond or free there can be no male or female, for you are all one man in Christ Jesus." The Master preferred a woman for His own mother. He never degraded a woman. He never reviled a woman. He labt the wrath of His righteous indignation on the scribes and Pharisees and indignation on the scribes and Pharisees and hypocrites, but he was always the friend of

But this cry coming from the few, "close your doors and pulpits against them," is only local and temporary. The Methodist church is prohibition to its center, its timbers are bolted together with prohibition bolts, and a few ecclesiastical and college pewees can never force prejudice and selfish and ambitious autocracy upon a grand and consecrated body of Christians.

SOCIETY GOSSIP.

A large and merry gathering of little children was entertained yesterday afternoon with a lovely lawn party, given at the home of Senator Colquitt, by Mrs. Kate Mitchell, in onor of her kindergarten class. The suburban home of the secutor and his family is an ideal spot. The mansion is sarrounded by grassy lawns, and the air on this May afternoon was laden with the fragrance of honey suckle and roses. All the grown folks present devoted themselves to the amusement of the small people and never did children have a joiller time. When all the company arrived they assembled in the circular corridor of the mansion, and there the little kindergarten class sang some songs, charmingly arranged. Mrs. Mitchedd seems to have a perfect genius for training little children, and it was beaufor training little children, and it was beautiful indeed to hear the wonderful unison and harmony maintained by those childish voices, and the litte folks themselves were all so sweet and unconscious in all the pretty things they did. The children who formed the class were: Emma Bell DuBose, Carrie DuBose, Inman Bell, Sarah Bell, Fred Kobb, George Kobb, Al Wynn, Cora Wynn, Loring Raoul, Eleanor Raoul, Livingston Thompson, Wimberly Peters, Lewis Turner, Dora Anderson, Florine Jones, Bob Lowry Freeman, Waiter Dreyfus, Mary Carter, Emmett Mitchell.

with charming and unconscious grace. After that, all the company scattered itself over the lawn, making it look like a big flower garden with their dainty frocks and hats. There was everything for the amusement of children—hammocks, swings, a lemonade well, and the most delicious cake and ice cream in the latter part of the afternoon. Low tables decorated with pretty cakes and bowls of dalsies and roses were spread under the trees for the little folks, and they heartily enjoyed their feast. It was indeed a perfect children's party, and Mrs. Mitchell's little class had every reason to feel highly honored by such a rin fact, only seasonable for this time of year.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS AND FORECAST. The steady increase in heat in Atlanta during the past two days has brought the temperature back up to its normal state again and after the recent cold u"spell' the weather now prevailing seems quite warm, though, in fact, only seasonable for this time of year.

Telegrams received last night from all over the country gave the information that the weather yesterday had been seasonable or warmer than seasonable in all sections except the far northeast. The warmest portion of the country, taking latitude into consideration, was the interior, in the valley of the Mississippi and its tributaries. In St. Paul the temperature was up to 78 degrees; in Chicago, to 76 degrees; in Kansas City, to 84 degrees; in St. Louis, to 88 degrees. Buffalo was the coldest city reporting. There the highest temperature during the day was 56 degrees and at 7 o'clock last night it was down to 48 degrees.

Fair weather prevailed yesterday everywhere. In the whole country from the Rocky mountains to the Atlantic ocean no rainfall was reported between 7 o'clock a. m. and 7 o'clock p. m., not even a sprinkle.

For Georgia today: Fair; warmer.

Accord-ing to the reports one of the Atlanta papers will champion the cause of Secretary Smith and another the cause of Judge Crisp. It is not a difficult matter to determine which paper will be Mr. Smith's organ and which Judge Crisp's, if the alleged movement should

Such reports are not worth printing and they are worth commenting on afver they are printed only because they do downright injustice to every person they name and to every interest they touch. Anybody can get up a report and set it afloat, or he can invent any number of reports and color them to suit himself or to suit the particular purpose he has in view. It is folly to tall about personal cliques in the democratic party in Georgia, and it is more foolish still to talk about democratic division in behalf of, or against, this or that person, and it is rank injustice to link the name of any Georgia democrat with such a rumor.

We do not know what is at the bot tom of such a rumor as that which The Savannah News gives circulation to We do not know whether it is idly conceived, or whether it is of sinister purport. But this we do know: it is supremely silly on the face of it; and this silliness lies not in the rumor itself, but in the interpretation which it seeks to give to the intentions of the democrats of Georgia-holding them up to view as mere puppets to be pulled and hauled hither and you in the interest of personal and factional politics.

We have no hesitation in saying to those who concoct such rumors as well as to those who take pains to put them in circulation, that while the democratic party of Georgia is not as big as the earth, it is bigger than any man, and It is entirely too big to be made to do duty as the foil of ambitious men and

That fact being emphatically set forth, It is hardly necessary to say that injuspersons and interests named. There will be no division of the democratic party in this state. Even those who have been advertising a short cut to financial reform and relief from taxation have about come to the conclusion that the democratic party has the right of way along the only practical route to relief and reform.

Briefly, the democratic people of Georgia, including even the majority of those who have been loking towards a third party, stand on the Chicago platform and the democratic interpretations of that instrument, and they will continue to stand on it and urge its fulfillment for four years to come and the four years to follow. There will be no break in the lines and no fainting by the wayside. They were not driven into the party by any man and they will not be driven out by any man or set of men

A Question of Official Amenity. It will be seen from the expression of our contemporaries, printed in another column, that the alleged interference of a cabinet officer in the matter of appointments, in which congressmen from his own state desired to have voice, has not been favorably received

The question is largely one of official menity, and as it is assuming some importance in view of recent develop ments, we propose to discuss it impar tially and candidly.

It is held by public men, the press and the people generally that certain amenities in official life, handed down from generation to generation and strengthened by innumerable prece dents, should be regarded and observed as a binding though unwritten The idea is that a cabinet official should not go outside of his own field and jurisdiction to interfere in matters which custom and practice have placed under the control of other officials, nor should these officials in turn invade the province of a member of the cabinet.

Now, ft is alleged that Secretary Smith interfered when Congressman Crisp urged the appointment of Mr. Bascom Myrick to the Berlin consulship, and again interfered in the Con vers postmastership before Congress man Livingston had investigated the ap plications for that position. Mr. Myrick lived in Mr. Crisp's home town, and Convers was Mr. Livingston's home postoffice. The two congressmen were acting in matters of importance that concerned their constituents, and which had nothing whatever to do with the interior department. There is a general desire to have this question finally settled. If the old ustoms and amenities so long observed in public life between officials are to be abandoned the people want to know it On the other hand, if members of the cabinet are expected to look after their own departments while the congressmen will work for the interests of their constituents, that fact should be under stood. The intimation is thrown out by some of our contemporaries that Secretary Smith and Mr. Livingston are not on good terms. This has nothing to do with the principle of the thing. Mr. Livingston has rendered valuable service to the democratic party and to the administration, and if other congressmen are to be recognized in the appointments heretofore held to be subject to their advice or control, no shadow of excuse can be given for ignoring him.

Our officials should stand by the timeonored amenities of public life. This is our view of it, but if there is to be a change, let all persons concerned be put upon notice that cabinet officers will run the district business of the congressmen.

After a brief and confused experience is safe to say that all will be glad to return to the old system. We express these opinions for and against the interest of no person or set of persons in ffice, and what we say is said in the kindest spirit, and because the prominence this question has assumed makes it desirable to have it fairly and satisfactorily settled.

The result depends entirely upon the conduct of the democratic party. The prompt carrying out of every pledge in our platform will bring pros perity and contentment to the country at large, and the masses, freed from the oppression of a robber tariff, the Wall street barons and the unjust system which taxes the cottage of the poor man and exempts the income of the millionaire bondholder, will rally under the banner of democracy and the third party managers will not be able to muster corporal's guard of followers. There will be no third party if the administration and the party behind it will redeem the pledges in our national platform without unnecessary delay. But a timid, dodging, procrastinating policy will build up the populists, eaguers or whatever they may call themselves. This is the situation. The democrats can control the government for a generation to come if they will simply keep their promises like honest men, pledged to maintain a government of the people, for the people and by the Demand for a Reformatory. We are well satisfied that the views resented by Mr. S. M. All thinking men will admit the importance of such an institution, but how o go about to put it into practical opera-

Mr. Inman suggests that it be made state institution, and that a place be selected in the country, with a sufficient body of land with comfortable houses, and that this be the place to send young boys who violate the law. He suggests that schools can be provided, and proper religious and educational infit be thrown around these boys, and that they can be kept at work on the farm where if there is any good in the boy

It is true many of these crimes are small in degree, but unless checked the offenders will grow into hardened criminals. What are we doing to prevent it? A boy is convicted of a minor offense; he must be punished, and the only means provided is to pen him with the worst criminals in the state, burglars, murderers and thugs. Is it any wonder that he comes out educated in crime and prepared to sink deeper whenever the opportunity offers? Let us have a state reformatory where these young criminals can be put to work, where they can be taught, and have proper religious training thrown around them. This will make good citizens out of those worth saving, and will be worse punishment on the hardened rascals among them than to put them with chronic criminals.

The newspaper poet occasionally achieves anexpected fame, for, like the minstrels of old who sung history to the people, he awakens an interest in rhyme and story that must otherwise remain dormant in a large class of readers. AMENITIES BETWEEN CONGRESS AND CARINET.

Unwarranted Officiousness

From The Albany, Ga., Evening Herald. Just at this time there exists at Was ton a state of affairs that is not only a dis grace to Secretary Smith, but to the state of Georgia as well.

It is an undisputed fact that Secretar, Smith is doing everything that he can t down Colonel Livingston with the people in the district from whence he comes as a congressman. It is an unwritten law that congressman is supposed to control the federa patronage of his district, and is not only a vilation of political ethics but very unbecom as well, for any one to interfere in a matter of this kind. And still this is what Secretary Smith is doing. He has laid the flattering und tion to his soul that Colonel Livingston wholly unfit to say who shall or who shall not have an office in his district, and so heartly has he entered upon his self-imposed duties that he has succeeded in thwarting every effort of the congressman to superintend poinments in his district.

Of course this shows very conclusively the workings of the Italian hand of the secretary, and gives him a reputation of being a very industrious meddler in affairs that do not concern him in the least.

An Appeal for Fairness

From The Augusta Chronicle. Colonel Livingston ought to have all the influence with the president, so far as his district goes, that any other member of congress has who is in good standing with his party Because Mr. Hoke Smith and Mr. Livingst may not be on terms is no reason why the president should blacklist the latter.

In the congressional and presidential elec-tions, Colonel Livingston rendered valuable service to the cause. He is entitled to respectful consideration from the administration and he has as much right to speak for his district as any other member from this or any other southern state.

Colonel Livingston stands very close to the plain people of his district and I a great blunder to treat him cavallerly. Those who consider him a back number will find him a very active figure in Georgia Thinks It Meddling.

From The New York Sun. The New York Herald of Tuesday contained a dispatch from Washington in which this ex-traordinary passage appeared:
"President Cleveland dealt the mugwumps a severe blow today. He resented being calls a mugwump himself, and said he would n appoint any man to office who doubted h democracy.

"Mr Cleveland was angry when he said this His very emphatic declaration was made to Secretary-Hoke Smith, who had been backing W. C. Owens, of Kentucky for the consul generalship to Berlin. The other prominent candidate for the position was Bascom Myrick, editor of The Times-Recorder, of Americus, Ga., where Speaker Crisp lives. Mr Crisp has been making a strong and determin probably have succeeded but for the action of the secretary of the interior.

"Mr. Smith told the president the editor had called Mr. Cleveland a mugwamp, and had called his democracy into question.

"The president demanded that copies of the issue of the paper containing the editorial silings' at him should be produced.
"Secretary Smith took them to the white.

"Secretary Smith took them to the white house today; and after reading them, Mr. Cleveland declared that he would appoint no man to office who doubted his de We should want further evidence before cepting this interesting story as true. In the first place, a narrative printed by The Herald represents the Hon. Hoke Smith as laboring to prevent the appointment of a fellow

Georgian and a brothe editor to a lucrative office, that office being entirely outside of the Honentirely outside of the Hon Smith's own official field and jurisdic tion. More than this, worse than this, it represents Secretary Hoke Smith as resorting the underhand methods of the courtie and the back stairs councillor in order to prejudice Mr. Cleveland against a fello

Georgian and professional brother. In the second place, the statement that Mr. Cleveland has laid down the general principle that he will not appoint to any office any man who ever called him a mugwump, i inherently improbable. He has appointed n who themselves are mugwumps. If a candidate otherwise well fitted to occupy a post of public trust, is ineligible in Mr. Cleveland's opinion merely because at some previous time he has called Mr. Cleveland a mugwump, if the name, even when unjustly applied, is so odious to Mr. Cleveland as that, is it conceivable that under any cir-cumstances he could be induced to confer office upon a man who is really a mugwump and no mistake?

But even supposing that Mr. Cleveland hates every form of mugwampery and everything mugwampish with so fleree a hatred that no insult could cut him deeper than that which the Hon. Hoke Smith is accuse raking up in the case of his fellow Georgian and brother editor, we cannot believe Th Herald's story. It attributes to the president a smallness of soul and a magnitude of personal vanity which are incredible. He has shown on more than one occasion a magnanimous willingness to overlook and forgive offenses against himself individually, when public interests were concerned. There is one gentleman, for instance, no in daily official intercourse with the president, who in the past has called Mr. Cleveland names in comparison with which the epithet of mugwump is flattery itself. And yet this did not prevent Mr. Cle from inviting his defamer into his cabinet.

THE OLD CHIEFTAIN

Of the Southern Confederacy Will Re Honored Once More.

THE DETAILED PROGRAMME ARRANGED

An Enthusiastic Meeting of the Committee Yesterday at the Courthouse-Send in Your Flowers on the 29th.

It is now little more than a week before he Jefferson Davis funeral train will read Atlanta.

There was a very important meeting of the committee on reception yesterday the office of Colonel W. L. Calhoun, for president of the Fulton County ex-Confed erate Veterans' Association, at which all arrangements were perfected for the ovation that is to be given the funeral party attending the lifeless body of the dead chief ain of the southern confederacy.

The meeting was largely attended and the siness transacted was of a most satis factory nature. It was decided to make the day a memorable one in the history of his state. It will be the last tribute of respect that can be paid to all that was mortal of the dead leader of the lost cause and it will for this reason be all the more considerable

The committee yesterday went quite into the details of arrangement for the was determined that all of the military and civic organizations of the city take part in the celebration of the day.

Flying flags are to wave over the city and martial music and the drum beats of every band in the city will lend inspiration to the scene. Every military company the city and perhaps many out of the city in neighboring towns will be in the parade Thousands of patriotic Georgians from al quarters of the state will come that day to join in the demonstration to Jeff Davis dead and it will be the most soul-stirring hour Atlanta has experienced for many a day.

Mr. Barclay, the well-known undertaker was at the meeting yesterday with the committee. He has begun the work of fitting up the caisson upon which the body of the dead chief of the confederacy is to be carried.

It will be a large and handsome smaller.

Upon this the casket will be rested. This will allow a sort of platform on the first floor large enough for flowers to be piled in profusion. It will also be large enough in profusion. It will also be large for four ex-confederates to stand escort to the body. These ex-confederates will be attired in the gray uniform of the Six Gray Horses to Pull It.

Six handsome gray horses will de hitched to the crisson and they will not be driven but will be lead by some member of the Atlanta Artillery in uniform.

Colonel Caihoun's handsome gray mare will be among the horses that make up the team. He was especially anxious to have his horse so honored, and the committee his horse so honored, and the committee was glad enough to accept the services of was grau enough to accept the services of so handsome a nag.

It is the hope of the members of the committee to be able to get about fifty ex-slaves to follow in attendance upon the caisson. This will make an interesting feature of the procession, as it will be an indication of the regard that the men in charge have for the old-time southern darks whose for the old-time southern darky whose simple faith was the honest discharge of his duty to his master. The Line of March. The Line of March.

The line of march has not yet been given out. It will be made public later in the week. It is highly probable, however, that the caisson and procession following it will move off from the union depot down Wall street to Pryor, out Pryor to Decatur, up Decatur to Marietta then to Broad and Alabama, down Alabama to Whitehall, out Whitehall to Hunter and thence to the capitol.

to the capitol. To Lie in State It is known that, according to the programme already arranged by the Richmond committee in charge of the removal of the body of Mr. Davis, the train will reach Atlanta from Montgomery at about 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon of

The body will then be taken to the state-house accompanied by the vast parade just described and will lie in state there until 8:30 o'clock when the train will leave Atlanta for Richmond, making no more stops until the journey is completed.

While the body lies in state at the Georgia statehouse an opportunity will be given while the body lies in state at the Georgia statehouse an opportunity will be given the people who come to Atlanta and those living here to see for the last time the face of Mr. Davis.

A great phalanx of soldiers will be placed around the corridors of the capitol, who will stand guard while the casket is there and keep the crowds moving on from the Hunter street to the Washington street exit.

exit.

It is the especial desire of the members of the Ladies' Memorial Association that all who can send flowers in to cover the casket and caisson on that day.

It is going to be a feature of the demonstration. They want a perfect world of flowers for the dead chieftain. It will be remembered that the last time Davis visited Atlanta the little school children methim and covered the streets with roses and fair flowers all the way in front of the carriage that held him.

The ladies think that they ought to have a vast collection of flowers this time. They desire that the flowers be sent to Mr. Barclay on the 29th instant, so as to be ready for the decoration.

The Tomb of Davis.

The Tomb of Davis. It is learned from Richmond that there will be no vault to receive the body of Mr. Davis. It will be a simple mound of earth in the center of a forty-foot circular section in the cemetery.

Just now there is no plan for ornamenting the spot except the plan to have a handsome monument built there some of these days.

Everybody is talking about the removal of Mr. Davis's body. It is the one theme from New Orleans to Virginia. The governors of all the states through which the Davis train will pass, with their respective staff officers, will board the train from state to state and will go on to Richmond to attend the funeral. A committee will be appointed by General C. A. Evans, president of the Fulton County Veterans' Association, to go with the funeral party from Atlanta to Richmond. Governor Northen will likewise also go along from Atlanta.

Goes Crazy. The frenzied madman who, on two ocrasions, held the police at bay with a drawn revolver, and who once shot himself in an insane attempt to murder an officer, plowed neat little furrow across the head of Patrolman Randall with a pistol ball last night, after that officer had engaged in a parallel in police annais, except it be the two other instances in which the same wild lunatic has ngured. In each of three instances officers had hair-breadth escapes from the lunatic's deadly pistol.

The man with whom Patrolman Randall fought was Gus Allen, the stationary engineer, who, it will be remembered, became a lunatic on his wedding night about ten months are and made a nearly successful months ago and made a nearly successful effort to kill his relatives and then himself. effort to kill his relatives and then himself. This time he secured a big pistol and drove the entire family from the nouse. Once in the room he made such a noise as to attract the attention of Call Officer Beavers, who was passing. Beavers went in and Allen jumped at him. Allen is a powerful man, and is hard for two men to handle. He literally tore off Beavers's coat, and then threw his pistol to his head to take his own life. Beavers strack the pistol.

his own life. Beayers strack the pistol, and the ball missed his head, but carried off the thumb of his left hand.

Nearly two years ago Allen became wild, and chased Patrolmen Bethea and Lanford with a pistol. He was terrific in his violence, and the wonder is that the officers were not killed. They finally succeeded in subduing the wild man, but not until after a terrible fight, and after he had held them at bay for ever so long with a big pistol. Despite these two narrow escapes, Allen has been allowed to go free, and last night ne repeated his crazy tactics with he repeated his crazy tactics with the variation that he succeeded in bringing the blood from an officer with a pistol ball.

About 7 o'clock last night Patrolman Randall was called to the house of Allen's wife, on Haynes street, near the city limits. Allen was there, and was raving with another of his terrible spells of insanity. Randall tried to quiet him, but the frenzied man jumped up and showed fight. Allen pulled out his pistol, but Randall caught his hands to prevent his using it. The crazy man held the pistol under his right arm, and as he fought he made desperate attempts to get it into his hand ready for use. A wild animal could not have fought with more fury than did Allen. He scratched and hit and kicked, and handled the officer easily.

Randall saw that Allen was getting the better of him and he snatched his pisctol from his pocket. This gave Allen an opportunity, which he did not lose, of getting his pistol in his hand. With a powerful blow he sent Randall's pistol spinning several feet away, and with a loud cry of triumph placed his own revolver against Randall's head.

Randall tore the pistol away from beside his head and tried hard to wrench it from Allen's hand, but failed. In a moment Allen again had the pistol to Randall's head, and placing it to the temple pressed the thirty.

Only a swift blow on Allen's arm saved Randall's life. A second's delay, and Randall would have fallen with a pistol hole through his head. But, knocking the pistol upward, the ball which would have, gone trough his head plowed its way for several inches along the scalp, making only a painlesh wound.

Feeling the sting of the leaden ball and rendered strong with desperation, Randall caught hold of the smoking revolver and, with a mighty effort, wrenched it from the hand of the infuriated madman. His pixtol gone, Allen jerked imself loose from the hold of the officer and ran away with the fleetness of a deer.

Randall pursued Allen almost to the city limits when he gave up the chase. He limits, when he gave up the chase. He then went to the police station, where he reported the encounter to Captain Thompson. In the struggle he lost his pistol, but came off with the big gun Allen had used.

Motz struck out and Connor made a hit which put Ely on third. Duffee was given his base on balls and the bags were all full. Letcher flew out and Murray came up. One of Leach's balls hit Murray on the arm, but Umpire Cline would not let him have his base, as it forced in a run. Then Murray knocked the ball for two bases and all three men scored. That gave the game to Aflanta. Umpire Cline appears to have given Rettger and the entire Atlanta team the worst of it decidedly.

Outside of the great all round playing of

Montgomery lost the game in the ninth inning through an error of Shortstop Hassamear

Bad Life, She Drank Until She Was Unbalanced. A comely looking young woman, neatly dressed in a street costume and carrying in her hand a ladies' umbrella, walked past police headquarters and up Decatur street towards the Kimball house yesterday morn-ing. Her face was slightly flushed, and she staggered somewhat as she walked. Suddenly she stopped still, tottered and leaned against a wall, her lips twitching, her face wearing an expression of agony. She held the umbrella to her ear, and began calling "hello," as if she were talking into a telephone. A crowd of people stopped and watched the woman's strangs actions and listened to her meaningless words. For five minutes she stood there carrying on an imaginary conversation with som While still talking in an animated way,

HE ALWAYS CELEBRATES IT.—Captain Ed Cox celebrated the thirty-third anniversary of his wedded life yesterday at a barbecue given by him at his country home. All of the city officials were invited and all of Captain Cox's friends. It was just thirty-three years ago yesterday that Captain Cox went to Baltimore to a female, college and stole one of the students, a young girl only fourteen years old. The two made post haste to the nearest minister and were married, the young lady returning to the college as Mrs. Ed Cox. She remained in school only a few days when she again came out and the happy couple went to housekeeping. At that time Captain Cox was only eighteen years old. He says that he considers that when he stole his wife he did the best day's work of his life and that he intends to celebrate it all is life. All those who went out had a splendid time, and did not lack for eatables. HE ALWAYS CELEBRATES IT.-Captain

THEY WILL PLAY BALL.—The N. A. C.s, with a string of victories ten deep, will tackle the Technological school team this afternoon at Fort McPherson. The N. A. G. team, and Black and Whitney for the Technological school team. All who go out will enjoy a very interesting game, no matter which side wins, but the N. A. C.s are the favorites.

Together Next Monday Afternoon, AND THE WATERWORKS BONDS

Will Then Be Perfected by the Ordinances Necessary-What Mayor Goodwin Thinks of the Situation.

There will be a special meeting of the general council next Monday afternoon.
The meeting has been called by Mayor Goodwin, and was called for the purpose of perfecting legislation relative to the waterworks bonds, which were voted Tuesday.

"I am," said Mayor Goodwin yesterday, as he signed the call for the meeting, "glad to say that the bonds have been authorized by one of the most popular, if not the most unanimous vote that has ever been cast in Atlanta. The vote came nearer to the registration than ever before, and those who had registered and dissented from the bonds by their votes were fewer than in any former election of which I have any knowledge. That certainly shows that the people of Atlanta are almost a unit on anything that goes to make the town a good

"Atlanta's bonds have always been among the most marketable in the union, and have always found ready sale. The issue which was declared defective, and which this last election has made good, was disposed of at good advantage, and the bonds which will be written upon the election of Tues-day will find an easy buyer. The council, however, must provide for the issuing of the bonds, and it is for that purpose that the council has been called together next Monday. As soon as the council meets, the finance committee, in whose hands the matter rests, will present the resolution necessary and the bonds will be issued in accordance with that resolution. Ten days after that meeting, the bonds will be ready for sale and delivery. In fact, some of the dealers in money and bonds are not awaiting the actual appearance of the bonds in order to buy them, but have already begun asking about the issue. They are willing to bid on them now and take them when they are issued, at that time passing in the money for the bonds.
"Atlanta's credit the world over is the best in the country, and any bonds carrying the necessary names, such as the laws of security require, find a quick, ready and profitable market.

"Every member of the general council should make it a point to be present at the meeting."

Captain Ed Cox, of the street department, has been married just thirty-three years, and yesterday was the anniversary of that happy event in his life.

For more than a month past, Captain Cox and his estimable wife have been thinking of the event and talking about it, and a few days ago determined to make it a marked milepost in their lives. None of Georgia's good women knows better how to provide than Mrs. Cox, and none of Georgia's men like to see people happy more than Captain Cox. After thinking the matter over, they decided to give their friends a barbecue, and yesterday the pleasant country home of the captain was the rendezvous of all the members of the general council, the mayor and the friends of Mrs. Cox and those who know Captain Cox. A Day's Outing.

It's the Last Day. The city tax books will close today, and then the tax assessors will begin figuring up the value of Atlanta's real estate. Those who have not returned their realty and personalty will find a per cent. added to the bill when they get ready to pay it. The Coming Election.

The Coming Election.

The election of city officers next July is attracting the attention of those who want the many places to be given out more than the attention of those who give the places or those who pay the salaries of the places which are to be given.

Sermon to Veterns Tomorrow at 11 O'clock.

The regular annual sermon to the members of the Fulton County ex-Confederate Veterans' Association will be preached at the First Baptist church tomorrow.

Dr. J. William Jones, who has recently been appointed chaplain of the University of Virginia, has been appointed by the association to preach the sermon. He will have a great crowd in the church to hear him, and it will be a memorable event.

The members of the association are expected to meet in the hall on Broad street at 10:30 for the purpose of going to the church in a body to hear the sermon by the eminent divine.

They have all heard Dr. Jones preach before and they know just what to expect from him on this occasion. The sermon by Dr. Jones will be a treat for not only the old soldiers, but likewise also for all who hear it.

It has been announced by the authorities that a special escort train will be run by the authorities of the Richmond and Danville on the same schedule with the Davis funeral train from Atlanta to Richmond for the advantage of all those who want to go to the burdal of the ex-president of the southern confederacy. This will enable very many to go along with the body of Davis.

JIM JONES'S WIFE. She Worked a Clever Scheme on a Number and who was twice shot before lang captured.

No less than six grocerymen claim to be swindled by her. A few days ago she went to a grocery store on Marietta street and bought a bill of goods. After the goods had been fixed ready for delivery she pretended that she had forgotten her pocketbook and asked that the goods be sent around. A boy accompanied her to carry the goods and get the money. She went to a vacant house and after losing a half an hour sent the boy away on some trivial pretext. While the boy was gone the woman disappeared.

A CELEBRATED LAWSUIT. That Case in Which Georgia and Tenn That Case in Which Georgia and Tennessee
Are Mutually Concerned.

It was mentioned in yesterday's Constitution that Colonel Chapman had gone to Nashville to attend the session of the federal court there as a witness in cases against some Tennessee mountaineers who,
it is alleged, killed three revenue officers
more than a year ago.

more than a year ago.

These men are charged with murder in the federal court, and this case raises a jurisdictional question as to the powers of the federal courts and the state-courts that makes the courts and the state-courts that jurisdictional question as to the powers of the federal courts and the state-courts that makes the case one of profound general interest. When Lieutenant McIntyre was killed in Towns county, about 1875, the alleged assassins were tried for murder in the state courts in the county where the crime was committed; also, when Revenue Officer Merritt was killed, the defendants were tried for murder in the state courts in Gainesville, as the crime was committed in Hall county. John R. McCoy was alleged to have killed a revenue officer in Cherokee county a few years ago, and McCoy was tried for murder in Cherokee county, in the state courts, and convicted on the first trial, which the supreme court reversed, and he was acquitted on the second trial. In the present case, the defendants will be tried in the federal court at Nashville, hundreds of miles from the scene of the offense, and not in the state courts; and the lawyers for the mountaineers will rely on a decision by Judges Lamar and Newman to oust the federal jurisdiction. The original intention of the United States government was to try these mountaineers in the state courts for murder in the county where the crime was committed, in the mountains of Tennessee, and try them as for conspiracy to injure revenue officers in the federal courts, leaving it entirely to the state authorities, as hereofore, to deal with the murder feature of the crime. But Colonel Chapman happened to officers in the federal courts, leaving it entirely to the state authorities, as heretofore, to deal with the murder feature of the crime. But Colonel Chapman happened to mention this fact to Mr. Ed A. Angier, then assistant district attorney, who stated he believed the men could be tried and punished for murder in the federal court at Nashville, and, at Colonel Chapman's request, Mr. Angier wrote out his views and outlined the indictments, which were sent to Washington and approved, and instructions issued to press the case, as to all its features, murder and conspiracy both, in the United States courts. A demurrer to the indictments was filed, but Judge H. W. Jackson sustained the indictment. It was because of Judge Jackson's promotion in this case that Senators Isham G. Harris and W. E. Bate, of Tennessee, at first "kicked" at Judge Jackson's promotion to the supreme bench, but withdrew their objections, satisfied the autonomy of state rights and the state courts would be preserved. It has long been supposed that the federal courts only had jurisdiction in cases of murder where the homicide occurred on the high seas, on territory ceded to the United States, and a very few such rare exceptional cases; but, if this case at Nashville is sustained, the sphere of the federal courts is greatly broadened.

the Fivor of the New York Stock NEW YORK, May, 19.—The improvement in the stock market made further progress today. The fluctutations resulting from realization from the bear raids were less promounced than of late and seemed to stimulate purchases by those who have recently espoused the bull side. The engagement of $2,000,000 gold for shipment by tomorrow's steamers had little or no effect, money on call being extremely easy and funds on time being offered more freely than of late. The fact that the advices from London were of a more reassuring character and that there were no developments of an unfavorable character on this side tended to stimulate buying for both the long and short accounts. The success of the northern refunding scheme also tended to encourage the sentiment in favor of higher progress. The advance was equal to 1-2 to 1-4 per cent, and everything on the list participated in the rise, Manhattan, Pacific Mail, the Vanderblits, Lackawanna, the Grangers, Sugar and General Electric were the real leaders of the market, and closed at or near the best figures of the day. There were no failures today in the world to upset things, but if any big failures should occur it will-have a very decided effect upon our market.

There were slight and short-lived railles on reports of rising of the rivers south and fears of serious overflows; but, alt rivers south and fears of serious overflows; but, although some took place, the damage done is very small, and only occurred in the smallest cotton growing states. Liverpool was steady, but the news from there did not encourage the trade here. The prevailing opinion here is bearish, being based on the large stocks, the small spot business, the duliness of trade and the generally favorable reports about the growing crop. A general belief is gaining ground, too, that the average, as reported by southern correspondents, will be increased about 7 per cent, and that no damage to the growing crop has occurred so far. Outsiders continue to show little interest, and the relative low price of the staple does not seem to attract the attention of investors. We see at present little chance for improvement, and it looks as though prices would gradually decline until the low level they may reach or uniavorable crop

Riodan & Co.s' Cotton Circular. CHARLESTON, May 19—[Specisl.] New York—This has been a very dull day. Liverpool came unchanged and is now closed until Wednesday next for the Whitsuntide holidays. The crop accounts were favousble, and our opening was about 4 points lower, August selling at 7.53. A little later it declined to 7.82—the lowest price yet toached, but outside orders were few, and the trading was limited realing the conventions of local price yet toached, but outside orders were lew, about trading was limited mainly to the operations of local speculators. Presently the covering of some of those who were short advanced August to 7.58, and the market for a while showed great steadiness, but towards 3 o'clock the feeling grew easier, and the close was dull with 7.54 bid for August. The hope of any substantial prices are averaged as the growing the growing. ecovery in prices seems every day to be growing

Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Provisions. pean crop reports were also unfavorable. The lack of a more active foreign demand was accounted for in the minds of many by the experience of two years ago, when the continental buyers let their fears run away with their discretion and paid dearly for it. It is not to be expected, it is claimed, that they should so soon forget that lesson. A cargo of wheat bought at Duluth during the May excitement to deliver on May contracts arrived last night and has been inspected contract. It was inspected out of Duluth as No. I hard spring. Armour & Co. report the sale of $60,000 bushels of low grade for export at a good profit and the demand still unsatisfied. pean crop reports were also unfavorable. The lack of

There was a fair trade in oats and a steadier feeling, There was a fair trade in oats and a steadier feeling, chiefly in sympathy with the other grains.

In provisions little seemed to be wanted, but even less was for sale, and buyers had to bid an advance on the nominal market to entice an offer of stuff from the holders. Prices are 42½c higher for pork, 10c in lard and 10c for ribs.

The leading futures ranged as follows in Chicago

ance of oats make speculation in coarse grain very bearish, but the price of oats is getting quite low and the demand, both for foreign and domestic-purposes, is likely to be large. There is probably no question but what the coarse grains in England and on the continent have been greatly damaged by the drought. Parties having control of the pork and lard deal marked the former up about 50 cents per barrel and the latter about 40 cents per hundred. We wish we could influence our customers to keep our of these manipulated deals. We do not see how they can make any money and we can see where they are likely to lose a great deal. They certainly cannot make any money buying it and it, they sell it the holders can make them settle at their own price. It is just as easy for them to make the price $25 per barrel for pork as it is $20.

Mr. J. W. Echols Tried for Contempt

JUDGE CLARKE'S DECISION TODAY

It Will Be Announced This Morning at O'Clock-Proceedings in Court Yesterday.

Guilty or not guilty? that is the qestion.

And that question will be decided by Judge Marshall J. Clarke this morning. other words, to state the situation explicitly, is John W. Echols, the atney, in contempt of court, or is he not in contempt of court?

At 9 o'clock this morning the matter will be settled by Judge Clarke, who has reserved his decision. Yesterday's Trial.

Yesterday morning, as stated in The Constitution, the case of certain creditors of the Willson Whisky Company against John W. Echols, charging him with a violation of the court's injunction, was called in the civil branch of the superior court. It grows out of the escapade of Harry induced the attorney to take an rest in the business-or, at least, it is so alleged-and after making him false urances, and getting his cool $5,000, skipped the country, leaving him in the Several weeks ago a petition was filed in clerk's office in which it was claimed that considerable doubt existed as to the membership and, also, the solvency of the company. It was charged that Mr. Hill, who was the only ostensible member of the company, had refused to disclose the names of his associates, or give any satisfaction to the creditors whatever; for which reason it was urged that a temporary receiver be appointed to take charge of the Mr. Joseph N. Moody was named by Judge Clarke as temporary receiver, and he was given the authority of law to enter upon the discharge of his duties as enter upon the discharge of his duties as such-receiver.

When the temporary receiver made his demand for the assets, he found that Mr. Echols was in charge of the establishment, and stubbornly refused to surrender the property, claiming that he was the absolute owner of the business, and that he had paid for the same in hard cash.

Having met with this refusal, a second petition followed on the part of the creditors, in which it was prayed that the court's injunction might issue to restrain Mr.

ors, in which it was prayed that the court's spinnetion might issue to restrain Mr. Jehols from disposing of any of the stock or ransacting any business, pending a fuller caring by the court for the appointment of permanent receiver. This petition was ranted and the injunction issued.

Mr. Echols, however, acting upon the lea of supposed ownership and believing he establishment to be his own, continued a sell the whisky in stock, and to act as

Then followed the application which was deto Judge Clarke last Thursday afteron, in which it was alleged that Mr. hols had violated the court's injunction, d praying that he be adjudged in comput for the same. This is the story back of the proceedings sterday, and sheds all the light that is ressary, upon the investigation.

The creditors of the Willson Whisky Company were represented by Mr. Will S. Upshaw and Mr. Walter R. Brown. In behalf of the creditors, they filed the petition which brought the defendant into tion of the creditors was read to the court. The allegations were distinctly expressed, and the charge that Mr. Echols had will-fully violated the order of the court, and refused to turn over the assets, continuing to sell the goods and to operate the establishment as if nothing had occurred, was very clearly stated.

It was held by the attorneys for the creditors that the duty of Mr. Echols was to comply with the direction of the court, and if he had any rights as to ownership, those rights would not have been surrendered or jeopardized by such a compliance. On the courtary he had failed to comply with the court's order and for that reason was in contempt.

His intention was not to act in violation of any of the court's instructions, for as he understood it, the business was not that of the Willson Whisky Company, but his own absolute property, for which he had paid the consideration of $5,000.

He stated to the court that he had been grossly imposed upon and that if the property was decreed not to be his own and he was adjudged to be in contempt, he would be a ruined man. His statment had the full merit of plausibility, and the sympathy of many in the courtroom appeared to be with him in his defense of his conduct.

Judge Clarke, after hearing both sides of the case, refused to render an immediate decision. He stated that he would give the matter due consideration and annuonce his opinion upon the case this morning.

This morning, therefore, at 9 o'clock, Mr. Echols will learn his fate from the lips of Judge Clarke, who will then announce his decision.

Is he, or is he not in contempt of court for refusing to comply with the injunction?

Notes from Wilkes.

Washington, Ga., May 19.—(Special.)—Mr. A. J. Pharr, one of the most prominent farmers of Wilkes county, died at his home sixteen miles north of here last night of consumption. His body will be brought here for interment tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. He leaves a wife and one child. On account of the continued cold weather during the spring, the crops of this community are much smaller than they usually are at this season of the year. The cotton crop especially looks very bad. The grain crop of the county is said to be very surprising, as all the fall grain is very good indeed. Some grain is being cut in different parts of the county.

Bicycle fever is at a high pitch in this town at the present. Fully a dozen have prived here within a few days, and they are continually being ordered. There are some very swift riders among the boys.

Somehow, the impression was strong that Colonel Renfroe and Colonel Dismuke have dropped their candy in the race. Mr. Cleveland has had their applications before him ever since the inauguration and has not made a choice. Now it seems as though an outsider will have a showing. If the congressional delegation can get together and agree of a man he will go in like a flash, so everybody believes. Senator Gordon is still sticking to Colonel Dismuke and is reluctant to admit that a dark horse has any business in this fight. Colonel Jones has a mighty good chance among the dark horses. He intended to go to Washington last night but was not feeling well enough to undertake the trip when afternoon came. All the candidates were talking about moving on to the capitol and they discussed that order of the president's about keeping off the white house grass. They concluded that his order had no reference to candidates going to Washington so long as they do not call on bim to area their claims. Hangers, Boxes, etc., FACTORY SUPPLIES.

All of us need NO Grooves, No Kuts. --- the attention of other mindsbut originality-Genius, if you will, carves out a way of its own-It scoffs at the barriers of conservatism and soars into realms of Progress. Anything else is mediocre.

There is no industry in which the necessity of Progress, of Originality, is more necessary than in Clothing. It is this, we verily believe, which gave us such a tremendous impetus at the very outset. Our SUITS had a smack of originality -a Matchless Style, an elaborate finish-and they were made to sell at such Reasonable Prices as to arrest attention at once. We give you READY-MADE SUITS from $12 that are like a great proportion of Made-to-Measure Suits -with more Exclusive Style, and we give you Suits made to your Measure that are triumphs of Suitorial Art.

In Boys' Suits, our style is so generally acknowledged as to be copied. That's an evidence of intrinsic worth.

Our Double-Breasted Reefer Suits and the Braided Suits, not only enraptured our customers but took Trade by storm. Such a Suit for $5 was an innovation.

I. Will it Wear Well? 2. Willit Sell Well?

OU'LL ASK the first question. We must be sure about both. First -Is quality right? Then we go ahead and put our good work manshipfrom the cutter's to the sewer's-on it, and consider how to make it sell well. There's one easy way. Sell low, sell low. Sell at prices manufacturers usually get from stores.

We've filled all our salesrooms with Spring Clothing at that price.
